In His Own Words

"Often, people think that you deserve whatever happens to you in prison because you have committed a crime. But no one should be sexually assaulted by an officer. Inmates have no power to protect themselves, so we rely on the officers to make it a safe environment."

— Ivory, survivor of sexual abuse by a female officer

Roughly 200,000 people are sexually abused behind bars every year in the U.S.

operated locally	operated by CDCR
local oversight	Office of Inspector General
mainly holds people who have not been convicted and cannot pay bail	holds people who have been convicted of a crime
length of stay can be short	length of stay is longer
minimal programming	more robust programming
less physical movement	more movement likely

Consent Between Staff and Prisoners is Impossible

Consider:

- Staff has control over incarcerated folks' physical safety
- Staff controls an incarcerated person's access to basic needs
- Staff controls access to visits from family
- Staff has influence over programming, work assignments, disciplinary record, and parole date

In Her Words

"Although you may think that I'm not like you, we may not be so different. I want to have control over my own body and my life, just as you do. I absolutely did not want to have sex with that man in the jail, but I felt powerless to refuse him."

- Cecilia, a trans woman and former member of JDI's Survivor Council

Introduction to the Prison Rape Elimination Act

Photo: California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation

Purpose of the Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA)

- To eliminate sexual abuse in corrections and law enforcement facilities
- To increase accountability of corrections agencies
- To give incarcerated survivors access to the same level of care as those in the community
- To set requirements for corrections facilities on how to Prevent, Detect, and Respond to sexual abuse and sexual harassment

PREA Standards Checklist

- ✓ Protect all incarcerated survivors from abusers
- ✓ Provide multiple ways to report
- ✓ Offer medical and mental health care
- ✓ Increase accountability
- ✓ Provide survivors access to victim services

MOUs Between Corrections Agencies and RCCs...

- Should lay out all the services the jail or prison will facilitate, and the rape crisis center will provide
- Aim to include (at a minimum):
 - medical forensic exam
 - and investigatory interview accompaniment
 - confidential hotline calls
 - confidential written correspondence
 - confidential follow up support
- Are a crucial foundation for the relationship between your agency and the prison/jail

MOU May Also Include . . .

- Agreement from facility to contact RCC as part of the standard response to a report of sexual abuse that occurred during incarceration
- Specific language re: when and how incarcerated folks will receive information about RCC services
- Agreement from facility to support RCC in coordinating in-person services, staff training, and facility tours/meetings
- A contact sheet for multiple key staff on either side, and an agreement to notify one another of staffing changes

QUESTION	ANSWER
Who must be in compliance with the PREA standards?	Corrections agencies, not rape crisis centers
Do advocates have to report abuse in detention?	Advocates follow the same confidentiality standards as in the community
Do the PREA standards address abuse that happened prior to incarceration?	Yes - PREA does not exclude survivors of previous abuse from accessing services
Does PREA address sexual harassment too?	Yes - PREA addresses to sexual harassment, too

In His Own Words

"This was, in a word, enslavement. My body no longer belonged to me, but to someone else — to my 'husband', a rapist who totally controlled my life with the constant threat of violence."

— Rodney, survivor of sexual abuse by other prisoners

- Review policies and practices on providing services for survivors who have perpetrated
- Develop and maintain a binder that outlines best practices for your PREA program

Including PREA Work in Job Descriptions and Postings

Responsibilities include:

- Provide direct client services for survivors in the community and detention
 - hotline calls

Setting Up Rape Crisis Services for Incarcerated Survivors

“Being attacked and not receiving support from the adults in charge turned my world upside down. I take that with me wherever I go.”

— Troy Erik Isaac, prisoner rape survivor

Chat Question

What are some things your agency has done or can do internally to prepare to provide services in detention?

Confidential Correspondence

- Communicate with facility staff about the importance of confidentiality
- Determine how letters will be addressed and kept confidential by facility staff
 - Use Evidence code 1035.4 (CDCR only)
- Include this agreement in the MOU

Challenges: Confidential Correspondence

- Facility staff concerns around contraband
- Mail may not be treated as confidential by staff
- Mailroom practices can vary widely from site to site

Solutions: Confidential Correspondence

- Advocate to staff for confidential treatment of mail
- Ask clients if correspondence is opened in front of them
- Use the reporting barriers tool

Image source: News Break

Confidential Hotline Calls

- Stress to facility staff the importance of confidentiality
- Ensure calls to your hotline are free, unmonitored, and unrecorded
 - Facility staff can set this up with their phone provider

Challenges: Confidential Hotline Calls

- Posters are sometimes removed and repurposed
- Phones are placed in shared spaces
- Very few CA counties allow confidential calls between people in custody and RCCs

Image source: The Marshall Project

Solutions: Confidential Phone Calls

- Coordinate with staff to place monthly test calls
- Confirm with staff that posters are in place
- Staff may be able to facilitate calls from private rooms

Outside Reporting Agency

- Ensure that all of your facilities have one
- Ensure that your RCC is not being used as an outside reporting agency
- If there isn't one, identify one together

Review Protocol for Forensic Exams

- Discuss remote accompaniment options
- Determine where facility takes someone for a SAFE
- Review facilities' coordinated response plan
 - Ensure that calling your RCC is standard practice

Image source: NSVRC

Investigatory Interview Accompaniment

- Survivors have the right to an advocate during interviews
- Request that your agency be notified when interviews are upcoming
- When an advocate cannot be present for an interview, facility staff should provide survivor with RCC materials

Coordinated Response Plan

- Required by PREA Standard §115.64
- Offer your skills as a survivor-centered and trauma-informed practitioner to improve SART's responses to sexual abuse and harassment
 - medical forensic exams
 - investigations
 - follow up services
- Maintain confidentiality at all times

Raising Awareness of Your Services

- Posters and pamphlets near phones and other common areas
- Feedback and word of mouth through clients
- Referrals from mental health, intake staff, PCM
- Educational videos on your services

Gentle Reminders

- RCCs have the skills and experience to provide survivor-centered, trauma-informed services.
- Incarcerated survivors depend on a strong relationship between RCCs and correctional facilities for access to services.
- Systems change is incremental — do your best today.
