The Problem and the Tension

Converging Risk Factors

- 1. Emerging adulthood
- 2. Social culture/environment
- 3. Ubiquity of alcohol and drugs
- 4. Coercion-supporting peer groups
- 5. Victim access
- 6. Perceived safety/immunity

Protective Factors

- Pro-social activities
- Coordinated educational input
- Opportunities for social-emotional learning
- Openness to positive peer attitudes
- Developmental malleability
- Receptivity to change

Chat Questions

- What concerns, fears, and/or questions do you have about working with individuals who have engaged in sexual misconduct?
- Why do you believe this work is so important?

Students Who Engage In Problematic Sexual Behavior

Who Are They?

Common (Mis)Perceptions and Emotional Reactions

Male

Creep

Rapist

High-Risk

Deviant

Unforgivable

Untreatable

Anger-Fear-Disgust-Outrage

Definitions belong to the definers, not the defined.

Toni Morrison

Key Characteristics

For all adolescents and (most) college students:

- Emotions are experienced with greater intensity
- Developing social & interpersonal skills
- Attitudes and beliefs are evolving
- Abstract thinking and reasoning are developing
- Problem-solving & judgment tends to be poor
- Shorter attention spans
- Impulsivity & risk-taking are common
- Self-focus and narcissism are "normal"
- More dependent on their social environment and far more subject to peer pressure

Hallmarks of Expected Adolescent Development

Risk Taking

 Risk-adversity increases with age; the hedonic motive in adolescence overshadows rational recognition of adverse outcomes

Emotional Intensity and Liability

Associated with changes in reproductive and stress hormones

Impulsivity

 Associated with CNS immaturity - frontal lobe continues to mature into the mid-20s

Other Considerations

Not all people who abuse are the same.

Key Points

Impact of Race, Culture, and Privilege

Statement on Race and Privilege

Research [has shown] that entitlement and dominance are core contributors both to sexually aggressive behavior (e.g., Knight & Guay, 2018; Malamuth, 2003) and to the maintenance of privilege and the continuance of racial prejudice.

It would have been easier to say my 12 year old son was a murderer... than to tell someone that he had sexually abused a younger child.

- There is no simple answer as to why people engage in this behavior.
- The problem of sexual offending is too complex to attribute solely to a single theory (multi-factor theories are stronger)

No Simple Answer

No Single Cause...

- Contributing factors can include:
  - Negative or adverse conditions in early development;
  - Cognitive distortions, which often parallel rape myths and diminish internal feelings of shame;
  - Repeated exposure to sexually aggressive pornography and violence;
  - Hostility toward women and increased acceptance of physical violence toward women;
  - Problems with self-regulation and impulse control;
  - Short-term relationships and negative attitudes toward women.

See, e.g. Center for Sex Offender Management, The Comprehensive Assessment Protocol: A Systemwide Review of Adult and Juvenile Sex Offender Management Strategies (2007).

Red Flags

- "It's always about power and control..."
- "This is how [all] college rapists find their victims..."
- "This is what all sex offenders do..."

Understanding perpetration does not discount, diminish, or lessen the very real impact on victims of sexual violence.

Key Point

We can't move to a culture that eliminates sexual violence if we're not dealing with how harm-doers become harm-doers and how they undo that. Leaving them in a heap on the side of the road is not the answer; allowing them to sneak back in through the back door [...] and acting like nothing happened [is not] the answer. There should be an expectation that there's real rehabilitation and that [offenders] have seen the light and want to make dramatic shifts in their behavior.

Tarana Burke

College students are uniquely receptive to change and emerging adulthood presents an excellent opportunity to disrupt patterns of behavior that cause harm.

See, e.g., Andrews, D.A., Bonta, J. and Hoge, R.D. #### What Will You Learn from an Assessment

Major Risk/Need Factor	Indicators	Intervention Goal
Substance Abuse	Abuse of alcohol and/or drugs	Reduce substance abuse through a drug or alcohol treatment program, enhance alternatives to substance abuse
Pro-criminal/misconduct attitudes	Rationalization for crime/misconduct, rape myth support	Counter rationalizations with prosocial attitudes, build up prosocial identity
Antisocial personality pattern	Impulsive, adventurous pleasure seeking, restlessly aggressive	Build self-management skills, teach anger management
Social supports for misconduct	Isolation from prosocial others	Establish prosocial friends and associates
Family/peer relationships	History of poor family/peer relationships, inappropriate parental monitoring or disciplining	Teaching relationship skills, enhance caring relationships (e.g., mentoring)
School/work	Poor performance, low levels of satisfaction	Enhance work/study skills, nurture interpersonal relationships within the context of school and campus work
Prosocial recreational activities	Lack of involvement in prosocial activities or involvement with activities problematic to the individual	Encourage participation in prosocial activities, match activities to individuals to lower risks

Treatment

- The following approaches have the greatest impact:
  - Interventions provided by professionals with specialized training
  - Programs that adhere to the risk-need-responsivity model
  - Cognitive-behavioral/relapse prevention approaches
  - Interventions that meaningfully engage higher risk offenders in the process of changing criminogenic needs

See, e.g., Lösel, F. and Schmucker, M. (2005), "The effectiveness of treatment for sexual offenders: a comprehensive meta-analysis", Journal of Experimental Criminology, Vol. 1 No. 1, pp. 117-46.; Hanson, R.K., Bourgon, G., Helmus, L. and Hodgson, S. (2009), "The principles of effective correctional treatment also apply to sexual offenders: a meta-analysis", Criminal Justice and Behavior, Vol. 36 No. 9,pp. 865-91; and Lamade, R., Lopez, E., Koss, M., Prentky, R., Brereton, A. (2017). Developing and implementing a treatment intervention for college students found responsible for sexual misconduct. Journal of Aggression, Conflict and Peace Research. doi:10.1108/JACPR-06-2017-0301

Therapeutic & Educational Interventions

	Psychotherapy	Psychoeducation
Goal	Facilitate positive behavioral change by targeting and mitigating risk relevant thoughts, feelings, and behaviors associated with sexual misconduct and promoting respectful, prosocial intimate relationships	Deliver knowledge that leads to an understanding of the need to modify behavioral responses
Method	Use of specific clinical techniques within a principled framework	Planned curriculum
Delivery	Licensed mental health provider (psychologist, MHC, SW, psychiatrist)	No licensure requirements.
Effectiveness	Evidence for various outcomes	Support for specific outcomes
Cost	Varies, depending on insurance; diagnosis may be required	Cost effective, particularly when administered in a group

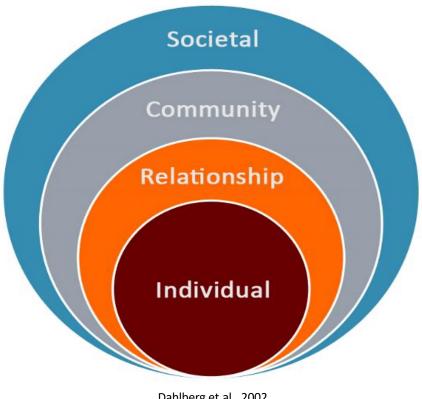

Adapted from Prentky, R., Koss, M., Lamade, R., Lopez., E., Wilgus, J., & Righthand, S., Two Programs, Two Approaches: Psychotherapy vs. Psychoeducation (2017). On File at Klancy Street, LLC

Social-Ecological Model

It is unreasonable to expect that people will change their behavior easily when so many forces in the social, cultural, and physical environment conspire against such change.

The Institute of Medicine Health Promotion Study (2000)

Safety Planning

- Important to address the safety of all parties
- Discussion of boundaries/sanctions and action plan for adhering to those
- Consider the following
  - What can be risky to me? How do I avoid/manage these?
  - What can protect/grow me? How do I engage in/with these more?
  - Who needs to know?
  - Who can help me? What do they need to know to help me?

Safety Planning

Guiding Principles

- Campus safety is a shared responsibility designed to increase the safety for everyone
- Listening to the needs and requests of the student filing the complaint is critical;
- The process will have the greatest impact when the accused student is involved;
- Involve multiple people;
- In more serious situations, safety planning benefits from a risk assessment; and
- Must be individualized for each student and each situation.

Tabachnick, J. & Wilgus, J., Campus Safety Planning for Respondents (2020), available at https://klancystreet.com/resources/

Safety Planning

- Most effective when:
  - Individualized
  - Holistic
  - Behavioral
  - Do-able
  - Dynamic

Campus Options

Evaluating Options

	Benefits	Challenges
Option A. Specialized Referral	<ul> <li>Individualized intervention</li> <li>Avoids unqualified, or omission of, treatment recommendations</li> <li>Capitalizes on professional expertise</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>Varying proximity to specialized clinicians</li> <li>Resistance around perception of mandated treatment</li> <li>Cost and equity considerations</li> </ul>
Option B. Campus-Based Program	<ul><li>Homegrown to meet campus needs</li><li>Adaptable</li></ul>	<ul> <li>Significant development costs</li> <li>May not capture broad research base and varied expertise</li> </ul>
Option C. Standardized Program (STARRSA)	<ul> <li>Individualized interventions</li> <li>Designed for college students</li> <li>Generalized applicability across campuses</li> <li>Informed by multidisciplinary expertise and leading academics/clinicians</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>Upfront training costs</li> <li>Externally controlled resources</li> <li>Pending formal validation</li> </ul>

Discussion

Addressing campus sexual misconduct

Statement by the Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers May 2019

ATSA

MAKING SOCIETY SAFER

The Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers (ATSA) recognizes, supports, and applauds the ongoing dedication and work that many other organizations, entities, and individuals have already achieved to address sexual misconduct on college and university campuses. ATSA contribution to this effort is a unique perspective due to our focus on the effective assessment, treatment, and management of individuals who have sexually abused or are at risk to abuse. ATSA offers expertise regarding potential responses and interventions for those who have perspective decus or of those who may cause harm. Unimately, the goal of this work is to prevent sexual misconduct of of those who have perspective factors of those who have perspective factors of those who have persent and interventions for this work is to prevent sexual misconduct before anyone is harmed. It is our hope that the following information and resources contribute meaningfully to a comprehensive and inclusive approach to the prevention of and response to sexual misconduct on

Introduction

During the past decade, increased awareness and advocacy have focused the public's attention of sexual misconduct on college and unbereity campuses.
